CUT MOTION NO. 6

I move that the demand for Rs. 54,802 under "20—Police Executive Force, be reduced by Re. 1 to urge on the Government to have only one cadre of Sub-Inspectors on Rs. 100—3—115—4—135—5—150 instead of three grades on Rs. 60—80, 80 to 100 and 100 to 150. The object of the cut motion is this, the undesirability of having three cadres of Sub-Inspectors doing exactly the same work, the same quality of work; it is something which a civilised Government should not perpetuate. The earlier the Government is able to convert, rather abolish the graded system into a time-scale system that Government comes in for eulogy and praise. Why not you earn-that is the question. That a sub-Inspector of Police on Rs. 60-80 is doing the same work as an Inspector on Rs. 100—150. That fact is not disputed. Of course there may be difference in a sense, or it may be attempted to argue that there is difference. A Sub-Inspector of Police in charge of a boistrous area like Anthikad and a sub-Inspector of Police like an innocent, docile area like my place, Vadakkancheri, is different, but is it not after all a fallacious position to take up? The simplest of cases, the biggest of cases will have to be viewed from the same standpoint. The tests to be applied are the same. The standards to be kept are the same. The forms to be adopted, the charge-sheet that are to be sent up are the same, and all the rest is the same. So even if you think of sticking on to that false idea, that between place and place the work of the Sub-Inspectors will vary, why not they also profit like an Inspector who starts on Rs. 100 and goes up to Rs. 150? If experience is a test of ability, and capacity, you may put such men on a higher grade in more turbulent areas. I don't concede the position that the smallest man can be posted to even innocent places on the plea that he can manage. If you want to stick to that false position, there is a device; have a responsible officer like an Inspector on Rs. 100—150 whose responsibilities have to be known, to be understood.

Mr. President: Do you want to prolong?
